

Sparks Travel Club presents:

The Dynamic Earth

At the Fleishmann Planetarium on the University Campus
Tuesday, July 31st, 2018

“The Dynamic Earth” explores Earth's global climate and follows a trail of energy that flows from the sun. Audiences will ride along on swirling ocean and wind currents, dive into the heart of a hurricane and fly into volcanoes. Ice Worlds explores icebergs in the Arctic, massive glaciers and the Antarctic wilderness. Learn how science discovers environmental conditions that affect our future on Earth.

This private showing for our group will be held at Fleischmann Planetarium, part of the University of Nevada, Reno. Built in 1963 and originally called the “Fleischmann Atmospherium-Planetarium,” they were the first planetarium in the world to project full-dome movies. A recent upgrade last year has improved the theatre with new sound & projection, and the seats set up for even better viewing.

After the show you will have time to view their Exhibit Hall with their changing hands-on interactive displays and immersive permanent exhibits. The Planetarium Store, featuring educational and unusual gifts, is also open, and revenue from sales helps support the Planetarium's outreach and education programs. Coach Transportation is provided from Sparks as is a hosted lunch at the King's Buffet (or similar) in Reno, all taxes & gratuities; drivers gratuity and refreshments on coach; escorted by Frontier Travel & Tours team!
